

DESCRIPTION

This CCA watershed flows into the 'La Jolla' Area of Special Biological Significance (ASBS), which has approximately 1.7 miles of shoreline adjacent to the City of San Diego. The ASBS contains 453 acres of marine habitat, including a marine protected area, the La Jolla State Marine Conservation Area (formerly called the San Diego-La Jolla Ecological Reserve). This ASBS is adjacent to the San Diego-Scripps ASBS.

There are 184 direct discharges of urban runoff into the ASBS. Nine naturally occurring streams or gullies also drain the developed La Jolla town area into the ASBS. The majority of discharges into this ASBS are also from pipes and/or holes coming through seawalls, draining bluffs and landscaped areas. The largest pipe that potentially drains into this ASBS is located at the southern end of Kellogg Park at Avenida De La Playa.
